Distribution partnership with TD SYNEX,
a worldwide leader in IT distribution
2CRSi expands its commercial footprint in North America

Strasbourg (France), April 20, 2022 - 2CRSi (EPA: 2CRSi, ISIN code: FR0013341781), a designer and manufacturer of high-performance energy-efficient IT servers, announces a distribution partnership for North America with TD SYNEX, a global distributor and solutions aggregator for the IT ecosystem.

In line with the chip market trend of increasing thermal power, this agreement covers 2CRSi's range of immersion-cooled servers as well as direct liquid-cooled (DLC) servers (in which only the main components are directly liquid-cooled) for the data center. Those servers are available in both 21" (2CRSi OCtoPus™), inspired by Open Compute Project (OCP), and the standard 19" (2CRSi Atlas™) configurations.

These products actively contribute to the reduction of power consumption and help reduce data center maintenance and operational costs. Furthermore, these high-performance servers meet the needs of the rapidly growing markets of HPC, Cloud Computing services, AI, Energy...

"We see 2CRSi as a strategic addition to our vendor alliance ecosystem. They offer solutions that help reach the energy savings objectives of the growing data center market. This is in line with TD SYNEX's commitment to customer success as well as to a lower IT carbon footprint" said Gary Palenbaum, Executive Vice President of Product Management, TD SYNEX.

2CRSi provides flexible deployment options with services and support worldwide.

The benefits of this new partnership to TD SYNEX's customers include:

- Green IT - 2CRSi is recognized globally for designing and engineering sustainable server solutions. These solutions lead the way to a greener future.
- Lower OPEX – Specifically designed for liquid cooling, 2CRSi servers provide an optimized cost-effective infrastructure, aligned with market trends.
- High performance - 2CRSi's R&D teams focus on continuously optimizing its product lines, improving everyday efficiency, flexibility, and ease of use.
- Bespoke smart designs - Everyday, customers' specific needs drive 2CRSi's architectural and technical approach. From the existing offer to new developments, they customize servers and related solutions according to the customer's specific criteria.

“We are currently striving to expand our partner ecosystem in North America. The partnership with TD SYNEX is a key milestone in that path,” said Dave Burke, Senior VP of Sales North America at 2CRSi. “TD SYNEX is known for enabling partners with technical and business model solutions to accelerate growth; they will be instrumental in aiding customers looking to include direct liquid cooling or immersion cooling servers in order to significantly reduce IT infrastructure OPEX.”
